Fire Marshal course

This half day course is for staff who are responsible for fire safety or who are designated fire marshals in their workplace. The course will help learners to understand how a fire may start and spread; how to assess and manage these risks in the workplace; and how to use fire fighting equipment.

Main points covered:

- Role of fire marshal/warden
- Fire legislation
- Basic fire components
- How fire spreads
- Classes of fire
- Types of fire extinguisher
- Introduction to basic fire safety
- Risk assessment

The tutor is Mark Clegg who has served in the UK fire and rescue service for 27 years and has attended thousands of incidents all around the country including trauma, first aid, major fires, road traffic collisions and explosions to name but a few. He is also a member of the UK International Search and Rescue team. He has gained instructor qualifications in various fields and travels all around the country and abroad instructing recruits and experienced fire fighters.

Delegates will receive a certificate of attendance on completion.
